Invoicing Policy:

Invoices will be sent to you as products are shipped or services are performed. If a portion of your order is on backorder, placed on hold by you, or subject to other hold-ups, you will only be invoiced for the products which have shipped or services which have been performed. Separate invoices can be expected, until your order has been completely fulfilled. If you have paid for the order with a Credit Card, the cost of the entire order will be held against your card when the initial order is placed. As products are shipped or services performed under the order, the invoiced amount will be charged against the Credit Card, and a new hold will be placed on the Credit Card account for the balance of the order. The hold placed on your Credit Card can last as long as 30+ days depending on the Credit Card used. The hold of similar duration will renew unless invoicing of the entire order takes place within the 30+ day window. You are responsible for all bank fees for EFT/ACH payments, for both the remitting bank and/or receiving bank. Invoices are to be paid in full. Hamamatsu is not responsible for any associated fees unless explicitly agreed to in writing prior to invoicing.
